Tabby has been singing in choirs since 6th grade, but if you ask her mom, she's been singing since she could talk. She has also taken part in school clubs, such as Model UN. She encourages those with a love of music and a passion for learning to give choir a chance. Tabby would like to tell current choir students that she will miss singing with them 4th period every day, and she will miss how "locked in" they get in the last 2 weeks before a concert. To future students she would say she is jealous they are just now starting what has been her favorite journey yet. After graduation, Tabby will be the first in her family to go to College, and she is very excited to continue breaking generational curses. She hopes to continue setting a strong example for her younger siblings and encourages everyone to "dance the pain away" this week!
