The Students Perspective On The Civil War
By Caitlin

Civil War Day at The Heritage Middle School on Friday, the 26th of April. The students at Heritage were asked questions about their opinions of the day and how it went.

At the Civil War activity many students were asked, “What is the most interesting fact you learned?” Most of the answers were about all they learned and how hard it was to march during fighting. If they weren’t sleeping, eating or fighting they were practicing drills. The students only did two of the easiest drills they practiced during the Civil War, most were still struggling on staying in line. For most of the students they were most excited about getting to hear and see the cannon go off. After the cannon went off most people said that was their favorite station even though the sound made most of them scream. When asked, “What was your least favorite thing about the Civil War day?” Most of the answers were about the weather. Even though the weather wasn’t the best, it added a authentic touch because the students got to see how it felt without a heater. Overall Civil War was enjoyed by most all the students, I think that all the students that experienced Civil War day and fun or at least learned something.
